

AUTOS COLLIDE ON SLIPPERY STREETS

Glazed streets made auto travel highly dangerous and caused numerous accidents today, as the weather man predicted a clearing up of the cloudiness and freezing cold tonight and Sunday.

Several Boston accidents had to be barred temporarily to traffic while the public works department rained them heavily, after autos spun around on the icy surfaces.

Coasting was more dangerous than usual and was prohibited on number of Boston and suburban streets where it is ordinarily allowed. Lowell police banned street coasting entirely.

A stolen auto crashed into a electric light pole at Columbus ave. and Rialto, and two occupants hurried away, carrying a third man who was evidently injured.

Another stolen car crashed into the front porch of the residence of Hyman Melinsky, Harvard st., Everett, and two youths fled.

Six auto became tangled and a score of persons were severely injured on the Broadway bridge at Glendale sq., Everett.

Police continued at sea, endangering the fishing fleet, and the Coast Guard patrol boats were sent out to meet the Gertrude M. Paul to get a seaman, badly injured when hurled against a wire.

Grief and Happiness -- In Hart Confession

THOMAS H. THURMOND
Death stricken of Brooke L. Hart in San Francisco harbor were stopped by Thomas H. Thurmond, kidnap slayer of the wealthy boy. Thurmond is accused of leveling his pistol on the railing of the bridge over which Hart was thrown and pouring bullets into the victim.

MRS. PHELAN SUCCUMBS

Mrs. Margaret Keenan Phelan, wife of Thomas Phelan, veteran Boston Evening American reporter, died today at the Phelan home, 104 Mt. Pleasant ave., Roxbury.

Mrs. Phelan, member of a prominent Roxbury family and herself a lifelong Roxbury resident, was 62 years of age. She was born to her nine weeks ago.

Mrs. Phelan was the daughter of James A. and Bridget M. Keenan of Roxbury. She attended Martin grammar school, Roxbury and the Roxbury girls' high school in Roxbury.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Phelan was an employee of the Boston Public Library, where, during 22 years' service, she was promoted from department to department and turned throughout the city.

The lady's wedding took place August 6, 1911, at St. Patrick's Church, Roxbury, with the Rev. John Stevens, pastor, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Phelan spent their honeymoon in Ireland.

Mrs. Phelan is survived by her husband, her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin, Francis R. Keenan, and her baby, John Reddington Phelan.

Mrs. Phelan, a member of the Boston Evening American staff, was a well-known newspaper journalist. Of late she has been on the staff of the Boston Herald, a paper which she has been editing for some time.

Mrs. Phelan was a past president of the Boston chapter of the Knights of Columbus, and a past president of the Boston chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

The Hallucination of Hopelessness

By Samuel Lee Kinsolving

Rector of Trinity Church, Boston

The political upheaval in New York should send our minds back to the early apparent futility of most needed reforms. At the election of 1929, La Guardia was defeated by an overwhelming majority. When Samuel Seavey raised his voice in protest against the corruption of Tammany Hall, it seemed as useless as boating at a London fog.

Yet in a few brief months Mr. Seavey and his sidekick, Mr. Roosevelt, were hearing that the people had risen and rejected the system that had bogged and bled and bankrupted them.

What needs doing can be done in this world, and never forget it. President Roosevelt, yet accomplished no miracle greater than leading one hundred and twenty-five million people out of the sense of futility that had gripped them.

God helps those who help themselves. Every brave and spirited effort to overcome obstacles is undegraded and re-enforced by an inexplicable and mysterious Power within the universe and within the breast of man. As we meet difficulties with courage, we master them with joy. Let us not be ashamed of our hardships, but rather be ashamed to be caught by our neighbors moaning about the futility of everything. Let us take a few deep draughts of confidence and go out and prove that hopelessness is a hallucination.

FIGHT NEAR END ON BILLBOARDS

After nine years of litigation, the Massachusetts Supreme Court will hear final arguments next week in the action of the General Outdoor Advertising Co. to be given the State Department of Public Works has no right to ban billboards along the highways.

The department placed certain restrictions on billboards in 1921 and claims to have acted under "police power" which states have over private property.

Chief Justice Arthur P. Ruger today called a special sitting of the full bench for the first four days of next week.

Lewell A. Mayberry will have two days for the case, the company, and then James E. Eastham, special assistant attorney general, will have a day and a half to show that beautiful scenery is obliterated by billboards. Mayberry will be heard in rebuttal on Thursday afternoon.

Atty. General Hoar will officially represent the town of Concord, which is vitally interested. Highway in the State is more marred by sign boards than the historic route to Concord.

MABEL KELLY DIED IN CHURCH

Picture on Page 8

A wedding of interest in Brighton took place at St. Columbkille's Church today, when Miss Mabel Virginia Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kelly of Foster st., Brighton, became the bride of John Hubert Fitzpatrick of Valatie, N. Y.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Joseph V. Tracy. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The brides only attendant was her sister, Miss Katherine T. Kelly. The best man was Albert Powers of Dorchester, a cousin of the bridegroom. The ushers were William A. Kelly, a brother of the bridegroom, and Victor Campbell of Dorchester, cousin of the bridegroom.

A wedding breakfast and reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick will make their home at Valatie, N. Y., where the bridegroom is engaged in the contracting business.

STATE DEPARTMENT POST FOR SAYRE

cept larger responsibilities at a lower salary.

"I have been called to a larger and more important field of activity in the public service," he said.

WILL ACCEPT OFFER

"I will accept."

"When the country calls it is not for any man to say 'No'." said Mr. Sayre.

"In fact, I am accepting at some financial sacrifice. The salary will be smaller than my present position. I will have to give up my teaching at Harvard Law, also."

Professor Sayre talked with the long-distance phone from the home of President Harry A. Garfield of Williams College, with whom he was week-end when the official announcement of his new office came from Washington.

Prof. Sayre said that his only personal regret is that he is leaving his work and his friends in Massachusetts.

"I have loved my surroundings here," he said, and the tasks which I have been devoted. It has been my new but permanent home. I have made innumerable friends. I leave them with regret but with the fond hope that I will visit with them frequently."

He was told that Governor Ely was disappointed that his service would be lost to the state.

"The governor has been kind and generous," said Sayre. "I have been left free from interference to work out the penal policy of the state of Massachusetts, a policy which is, in many respects, the most advanced in the world."

"I will not let the governor down. I will stay with him and the state until he has a successor to me in whom he has confidence and respect."

"Do you know what your new and specific tasks will be?"

"I have a good idea," he said, "but the definite announcement will have to come from Washington."

"I will be stationed there. My home will be there. I expect that my first tasks will be of transacting the routine, yet important, matters which flow through that branch of the State Department."

"When will you leave?"

"I will leave only when my work in Massachusetts is completed to the satisfaction of the governor and the college authorities. I expect that will be quite soon."

Life has been a whirlwind of experience for Prof. Francis B. Sayre, newly-designated assistant secretary of state.

He came out of South Bethlehem, Pa., where he was born in 1885, to marry in Williams College. There he became assistant to President Garfield. Later he took his LL.M. at Harvard and a Professor of Law there.

During one Williams College vacation, he forked cattle on a western plain.

Another, he went to the Grenfell Station in Labrador. The third found him in social settlement work in Chicago slums. He was later assistant district attorney in New York State, a worker on the Mexican border and also in France during the war.

He was legal advisor to the King of Siam, who liked him well enough to supply him the king's favorite elephant to ride through the streets of Bangkok. In the past he negotiated Siam treaties with France, Great Britain, The Netherlands, Spain, Portugal, Sweden, Norway and Italy.

He chose to wear all his decorations, he could outline American history at Manila. He is a grand officer of the Legion of Honor and can wear the sash of the Siam, Denmark, Spain and Norway.

He married a President's daughter—the late Jessie Woodrow Sayre—in the East Room of the White House which had marked the bride of Kelly Grant to Sarfotte and of Alice Roosevelt to Nicholas Longworth. Two sons and one daughter came from this union. The first was born in the White House. The second was christened at Williams town. In the presence of the grandfather, President Woodrow Wilson, whose name the baby was presented.

The great event of misfortune and sorrow in the career of Sayre was the death of his talented and admired wife, a year ago in Cambridge. As might have been expected, the great of the Nation came to pay their respects to the bier of this admired and beloved lady.

The Sayres, together, had carved their name into the history of the State. Professor Sayre, because of his devoted interest in the welfare of the workingman and women was made an honorary member of the Boston Central Labor Union. He was frequently upon the public platform, discussing public questions of both domestic and international flavor, and was active in the Foreign Policy Association.

He became Commissioner of Corrections in December, 1932, and his latest achievement of importance was to secure the federal grant to expand the Norfolk Prison Colony looking to the ultimate abandonment of the castle called Charlestown.

SHIP SPEEDS TO SEARCH FOR DOG

The Coast Guard patrol boat Faunce is speeding toward the northern edge of Georges Bank, 200 miles east of Boston, to meet the auxiliary fishing schooner Walsh, which was carrying an injured man back to Boston.

The injured man, William Walsh, of South Boston, was hurried along the which by a heavy sea and suffered two broken ribs and possible internal injuries. Capt. J. J. Walsh, of the Faunce, Coast Guard headquarters here by radiophone and the Faunce was ordered to contact the Walsh and to be taken aboard the Faunce at noon today and rushed to Boston by the Coast Guard cutter.

'Mr. American' Turns Woe to Joy for Little Boy

(Picture on Page 8)

"Mr. American," to whom an 8-year-old South Boston boy directed his plea to help find his dog, yesterday did his duty.

And in so doing earned the promised alibi prayers of Joseph Hart, 338 Dorchester st., South Boston, an intriguing youngster with sparkling brown eyes, a keen mind and precocious understanding.

FAITH IS REWARDED

It all happened this way.

Little Joseph lost "my pal" Teddy, a dog whom he loved. With childish faith he wrote to the Boston Evening American—and stated his unhappiness over his dog's loss, begging that he be given another.

The letter was eminently appealing. Its simple declaration of love and faith in the camaraderie of a canine pal was overwhelming.

Little Joseph wrote that he would keep looking out the window for "The American Man" until he came with a dog.

And so yesterday "The American Man" and little Joseph made a special trip to the Animal Rescue League where a mongrel Doberman Pinscher was obtained for the South Boston lad, much to the delight of Joseph.

Upon taking leave of Mr. American, the youngster announced: "I thank you very much. I'm going to pray for you every night, Mr. American Man. I hope you are in good health and that you don't catch cold. I'll pray for you."

PARADE STARTS AT A & P STORES

Following its usual custom at this time of the year, the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company has announced its first Fall offering of this season's turkeys. Fresh, young, plump turkeys, thousands of which birds from the country to A & P headquarters for poultry of the finest quality.

A & P poultry buyers report that this season's turkeys are even better than those of the past few years, and the supply is adequate to assure a selling price not materially different from that of last year.

Shipments each year are started well before the year before, as the demand for turkeys, which will recently have passed its holiday use, has broadened until the early November season runs from early November through the winter months and into late February.

A & P this year, as usual, reserves its confidence in the quality of the birds which are offered in A & P markets by selling every bird on the now famous "satisfaction or money back" guarantee basis, which has come to be recognized as a distinctive feature of A & P Markets.

POLICE MURDER PLOT Laid TO 6

Springfield, Nov. 18—A woman and five men were under arrest here today in connection with an alleged plot to kill Patrolman William J. Donovan of the local police force. The six were looked at suspects, and held for a grilling.

The woman was said to have altered threats against Patrolman Donovan for the past week, according to police who has offered several men large sums of money if they would murder the officer.

Police then were informed that the woman had obtained a gun and was planning to seek Donovan at one and kill him. A large squad of officers went to the woman's house and arrested her and the five men. The women were without.

A loaded revolver was found in the house, police said.

Mayor Curley at Opening of Houghton's Sale

Mayor James M. Curley was in hand today when Houghton's department store, Tremont and School sts., opened its doors to begin Greater Houghton Day. So were thousands of bargain seekers, not a few of whom were attracted to the store by a 16-page ad in yesterday's Boston Evening American.

So great was the crowd that a special police detail had to be assigned to the neighborhood to regulate traffic.

The mayor made a tour of the crowded store, jokingly remarking that he might apply for a job in the department or selling department after his term in City Hall expires. He took advantage of the sale to do a bit of Christmas shopping.

Commenting on the fact that the thousands of persons in the store were buying and not "just looking" the mayor expressed the hope that the city would receive the CWA appropriation by Dec. 1, because that would mean jobs and more buying power by Feb. 15.

Richman Brothers' Host Manager Party Host

At an informal get-together party, Fred J. Schmitt, manager of the Boston store of Richman Brothers, men's clothing, was the host to the employees, their wives and friends.

Mr. J. White, assistant manager, was in charge. The affair was held on the fifth floor of the Richman store at Bedford and Washington sts. Following entertainment and dancing a buffet lunch was served.

OFFICERS GIVE WOMAN BLOOD

Responding to an emergency call, two Back Bay patrolmen completed their tour of duty early today and hurried to City hospital, there to offer their blood to a woman in a transfusion operation. They are Patrolmen Richard White and John Leach, both married, who volunteered after learning from Lieut. Andrew Hurley that a woman's life was at stake. The officers were immediately examined, gave a few ounces and were accepted. It was expected the transfusion operation would be performed shortly.

Staggering Statistics in CRIME CRISIS

- All but two cities in the U. S. are now at the mercy of thugs.
- Racket killings are more than in war.
- Gangs' hold over politics is appalling.
- Only where the police and other forces of the law have been permitted to do their duty without political interference has the underworld been brought under control.

Mayor Curley at Houghton's --:-- Great Sale Draws Thousands

Mayor Curley was among the thousands who were early shoppers today at the Greater Houghton Day sale. He is seen here at the cash register congratulating President Anthony W. Ackmann on the assured success of this big merchandising event.

SHOULD PUNISHMENT BE MADE TO FIT THE CRIME TODAY?

Should the flogging post, the pillory (where criminals got tears, not glorification), the stake, and the gibbet be brought back?

WELD, THE BEAUTIFUL BROOKLINE estate of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Anderson, was the setting for the presentation of Miss Evelyn (Polly) Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gardner, yesterday afternoon.

Very lovely in a white silk Lanvin gown touched with silver, Miss Polly looked the ideal debutante. . . tall, slender and blonde, with flushed cheeks and shining eyes she received with her mother, Mrs. Gardner, who was gowned in midnight blue velvet, and her aunt, Mrs. Anderson, in a crystal grey velvet gown trimmed with silver fox.

Laender orchids perched like butterflies on the shoulder of the bud and her bouquet was made from a number of various flowered bouquets which had been sent to her on this important day. . . there were bowls of orchids and other blossoms around the beautiful salons, a tribute to the popularity of Miss Gardner.

Weld, which needs no description from us because it has been opened so many times through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson for numerous good causes, was a magnificent background for the crowds of young friends who arrived for tea and dancing. No post-debutante were invited, we understand, and very few from the older group. . . it was a debutante party in every sense.

Dancing was enjoyed to Ruby Newman's orchestra in the white and gold ballroom and in the conservatory. . . Japanese serenade flitted silently about tempting the guests with delicious foods and vanda. . . the guests had the pleasure of strolling through the lovely rooms, admiring the treasure and works of art which Weld is famous.

Sally Byron in Gown of Green Crepe
A COTERIE OF YOUNG FRIENDS from the North Shore and Boston poured at the tea tables. . . Alice Burrage in the so popular and becoming lipstick red and wearing a black hat was noticed. . . pretty Sally Byron was seen dancing in a green crepe on long lines. . . Alice Merriam was in charge of the pourers and Dorothy Harding wore the ever popular brown.

Pretty Astrid Rice, dainty and petite was sophisticated in the new blackberry shade trimmed with chintilla and cunning little Molly Wood, her hair in a bang, was adorable in bitter-sweet red. Another scarlet maiden was Amy Lang, whose presentation takes place on Thanksgiving night.

Susan Means wore dark green velvet with a brown hat and a very tiny girl, Betty Gray, who was devotedly squired by Ridgeway Hall, was in the rust red tones.

Her Titian hair set off with a Kelly green gown trimmed with pink, Jean Kiley, a debutante of last week, looked very charming. . . Louise McNeil appeared like a soft gray kitten with a huge red bow under her pretty chin and Alice Scofield chose black with gold lame blouse for her attractive afternoon costume.

Nancy Whitman Wears Black Velvet
IN THE TINY NOSE VEIL which she affects so often, Camilla Alop did not lack partners for dancing. . . black velvet was very becoming to Nancy Whitman and Virginia Tolman chose the purple and fuchsia shades to set off her blonde tresses.

House-guest of Miss Evelyn's is Edith McKnight of New York. . . she is making her debut in New York on Thanksgiving night. . . her costume of gray with lame was lovely to her tall, blonde good looks.

Miss Gardner is a provisional member of the Junior League and has been elected to the Vincent Club.

Miss Astrid Rice and Miss Amy Lang are being presented together on Friday evening, December 1, at a small dinner, The Country Club. . . the usher's dinner will also be at the club and will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller Barker.

Mr. W. Gardner Barker, 24, is head usher, assisted by Messrs. Harlan Pierpont, Robinson Barker, Thomas Welch, Lawrence Eaton, John Bohlen, David Lewis, John D. Gardner, David Bangs, Whitin Brewer, James Stuart, Benjamin Foss, Jr., Julian Bemis, Delano Wight, Jr., and Robert Cummings, Jr. . . Harold Van Huse of New York will attend.

The young ladies who will be present at the usher's dinner are Harriet Atkins, Peggy Blake, Alice Clark, Mary Strong, Eleanor King, Polly Gardner, Catherine Richardson, Barbara Eaton, Marjorie Rogers, Barbara Taylor, Marian Moffatt and Natalie Farmer.

Among Pourers at Bridge Tournament
MRS. CONRAD HOBBS, MISS RUTH GIBSON, Mrs. John Marshall and Mrs. William C. Gray are pouring at the tea following the New England Medical Center bridge tournament at the home of Mrs. Richard M. Saltonstall in Chestnut Hill next Monday.

Danielson, Mrs. Frank Godfrey, Mrs. George Wightman, Mrs. Carlton Richmond, Mrs. Haverly Foster, Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Miller, Miss Josephine Griffith, Mrs. Richard Humphrey, Mrs. Samuel C. Burnett, Jr., Miss Helen Jackson, Miss Ruth Gibson, Miss Mary Hays Mosley, Mrs. Ote Weld Richardson, Mrs. Theodore Little, Mrs. James Dean, Mrs. Francis H. Kendall, Mrs. William F. King and Mrs. Frances Moulton.

'Suede' Packer is back from his gold-digging expedition in Labrador, wider, but no richer. . . he and his charming bride are staying with her step-father, Mr. Arthur Johnson, until they can find a place to take up residence for the winter.

Admiral and Mrs. Rush, who have been visiting in Boston for the past two months, have sailed for Italy to enjoy their enchanting villa on the Riviera. . . their daughter, Mrs. John Cabot, went with them, but she and her daughter will have another villa for a time and will spend the winter in Switzerland.

BEAUTIFUL WELD SCENE -- OF PRESENTATION DANCE

MRS. FREDERICK GARDNER

'Flivver' Planes Win Quick Response

Washington, Nov. 18 (AP)—Spurred by the aeronautics branch of the Commerce Department, the airplane industry will soon be turning out $700 planes, it is indicated.

Rogers L. Vidal, director of aeronautics, announced that response to the plan to stimulate production of "flivver" planes has been immediate and enthusiastic.

Last week he wrote licensed pilots, mechanics and student pilots informing them the industry could build a two-place, low wing monoplane to sell at $700 if it could be shown a market for at least 10,000.

RUSSIAN AMBASSADOR

William G. Bullitt late yesterday was appointed ambassador to Russia. He was a member of President Wilson's secret mission to Russia in 1918-19. He is a Philadelphian.

A SOCIETY GIFT TO MOVIEDOM

Katharine Hepburn, or, as she is known to her intimates, Katie, lunching alone in a Hollywood restaurant. Yes, it's true—lunching alone—fusing the bill herself. Katie, as you must know, is a post deb and hails from the family of a Connecticut physician. Her hope from society to legitimate stage and then to movies came in rapid succession.

"KINGFISH" FIGHTS

Sen. Huey Long, Louisiana's "Kingfish" whose political acts are now under eye of special senatorial committee in the Overman-Broussard senatorial fight, shows his fighting face at hearing. First he smiled—then he frowned—but when word "lies" was heard, Huey showed fight.

PUP TROUBLE FIXED UP

Young Joseph Hart, having lived eight years without a dog, decided that it was all that was required to make life complete at 258 Dorchester st., South Boston. Joe wrote to the Boston American for aid. He was escorted to the Animal Rescue League by a staff reporter and is now the sole owner of "Old Pete," a gentle pup who can't remember his parents. These two will get along. See story on page 1.

WHEN U. S. TREASURY HEADS CHANGED

Secretary of the Treasury William D. Woodin (left) congratulating Henry Morgenthau, Jr., newly-appointed under-secretary of the Treasury, as they left the White House with Dean G. Acheson, retiring under-secretary. The withdrawal of Acheson and the granting of an indefinite leave of absence to Woodin are looked upon as President Roosevelt's method of eliminating from his gold-buying committee the sound money bloc of the treasury department.

SUPREME

Daniel J. Doherty, State Commander of the American Legion, right, congratulates Frederick W. Churchley of Beverly, Mass., for two reasons. First, Churchley was selected as the best Legion drum major in the United States at Chicago in October, recently he won first prize with the Beverly outfit at a drum competition at the Boston Garden.

VOCALPHONE

Singers can now hear themselves as others hear them with novel vocalphone. That ought to improve our nation's singing. Afrona Ellarbrook, Los Angeles, demonstrates the new aid to training singers. Yes sir—they are going to try them on orators, too. Would help a lot around election days to cut down tones and whatnot.

EVER SEE A HORSE FLY?

Be off Greek mythology and your story of "Pegasus, the winged horse. Come right down here to 1934—Roosevelt Field, New York, and peep into cabin of plane. The woman you see is Mrs. Betty Rand, Houston, Texas. With her "Phantom," she flew to Washington. Trip was made in tri-motored plane—the horse causing no trouble enroute.

CLERICAL ART STUDENT

The Rev. Thomas M. McGlynn who goes to Rome for an indefinite period of art study after having completed four figures for a baptismal font at St. Vincent Ferrer Church in New York. He is shown with one of the figures in model form.

OUR THELMA AND HER "THREE LITTLE PIGS"

Just because people are singing a little song—all about a BIG BAD WOLF—and three little pigs. Can you beat it? The cameraman caught Thelma Todd, who hails from Lawrence, with her quota of song pigs. Looks like as if Hollywood was in for a long, long equal.

AT RICH, 'BROKE'

New York, Nov. 18. (AP)—John Ringling, circus magnate, ranked one of the wealthiest men in the United States today "has nothing," according to his own testimony in Brooklyn Federal Court.

Ringling, brought from a sickroom, took the stand to testify in a bankruptcy hearing concerning the Allied Owners Corp.

The circus magnate, whose wealth at one time was set at $100,000,000, declared he lost all assets when he was forced to sign them over to William M. Greve, president of New York Investors, Inc., parent concern of Allied Owners Corp. because he was unable to meet payments on a $174,000 note.

The circus owner testified Greve forced him to sign over all stock in the circus enterprise, his world famous art collection and his palatial Ringling estate at Sarasota, Fla.

TODAY

gold "die-harder" will tell him "cheaper dollars are the same things as debt repudiation."

Senator Thomas says that in 1929, when the crash came, there was less than five billion dollars of money in circulation, although banks showed deposits of approximately sixty billion and adds that because of "credit inflation" before 1929, the people have amassed debts of approximately two hundred and fifty thousand million dollars.

The more you hear and read about money the firmer grows your conviction that nobody knows anything about it, from the South Sea Islander who considers coconuts the only good money, to the capitalist, who wants "gold only" and on to the man in debt, who yells for greenbacks, more and cheaper dollars and plenty of them.

Clyde H. Peters writes from Valparaiso, Ind.: "I see in the Indiana Star you say because immigration has failed off we are increasing our surplus wheat, corn, cotton, hogs, etc. Come to southern Indiana and go around and see. I will show you what has more to do with our surplus of things we eat and wear than immigration. School children are coming to school with their clothes enough on to hide their malnourished bodies, and lots of these children are not even lucky enough to get half what they should have to eat. In several instances, teachers have asked their pupils where their dinner buckets were and the teachers have been informed that there was nothing at home to put in the dinner buckets."

That is not a pleasant picture of "civilization" among high-spirited Americans in the richest country in the world. If conditions are as described, then the country does need immigration, a few million of men and women that would not allow their children to be half-starved without doing something about it.

Scientists at St. Louis, Mo., deserving highest praise, have real information about the sleeping sickness.

They say the disease starts in the mouth and nose. Experiments with mice have also shown the disease itself develops a substance that protects. An extract made from the blood of a human being dead of the sickness, injected into mice, protected them from sleeping sickness, even when directly inoculated with the disease.

Providence sending diseases to chasten us, and make us patient, also sends remedies for each. It is our business to find it. Quinine is an absolute remedy for malaria. It is amazing to remember that good Protestants in Britain said it should not be used because it was a medicine "banned for a Catholic saint."

Mercury was the remedy for the worst of blood diseases until "506," an arsenical preparation, gave better results. But the toxicity, hitherto incurable, is treated successfully with an injection of malaria. Arsenic, through the life of germ-barring mosquitoes, has been used as an intense fever that cures the insanity. Then quinine cures the malaria.

Vaccination has practically done away with smallpox, which, without it, would still be killing millions a year. Someone will discover a remedy for cancer and then the silly-minded will say, "Don't use it, you are planning poison in your system."

The schoolmaster is not "abroad in the land" in New Bedford, Mass. Public schools there are closed, lack of money the reason. Eighteen thousand pupils will go uneducated, 100 teachers without pay.

All over the country education is suffering, many schools closed, children on inadequate part time.

Those that lose money now may make up for it in future years. It is not with children deprived of education.

BROADCAST TONIGHT ABOARD BYRD SHIP

Ship Bound for Antarctic in Greeting

By N. F. T.

Evening American on the Air THE GLOBETROTTER

A complete radio daily newspaper—60 minutes of news, markets, features, features, sports and special entertainments. 313 M-Station WAAB—1410 Ks.

Members of the crew aboard that good ship "Jacob Ruppert," bearing Admiral Richard E. Byrd to the "Little America" land of ice and penguins, are making ready to do some radio broadcasting tonight. Listeners in 58 cities of the United States will hear from the expedition headed south and now situated somewhere off the west coast of South America.

Columbia Nationalities facilities pick up the program (WNAC) from 10:30 to 11:30, with special orchestra music holding forth from New York at intervals to complete two-way transmission and furnish diversion for the Antarctic trail blazers.

BYRD DOGS BARK

Short wave station KJFY is set up between decks aboard the Byrd flagship and an eight by five bunkroom becomes a "studio" at sea. Admiral Byrd himself is slated to extend greetings and also has in mind sending back the barks of his trusty sled dog pack, housed beneath the hatches.

Tomorrow marks the 70th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address and a nation-wide radio program is planned, originating on the radio ship, featuring the Great Emancipator's words, read by Robert E. Lee and Gen. George Meade will face microphones (WBZ) at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, with fitting observance taking place throughout the following half hour.

Then at 7:30 on the Sabbath, the concluding "Battle of the Wilderness" episode is aired.

usually to maintain his station license due to terminate Monday morning. It will be regrettable if little WBZ has to fold, because many a present day headline in the big sound sanctum can trace careers to a start given there.

Arnold Herber is the most effective forward passer in the National Professional Football League. Which means in the world. Better than Harry Newman of Giants. Statistics prove it. Bostonians don't need any proof. They remember him from last year. Dazzled the then Braves with his tossing. But Redskins are much better than last year's Braves. So we doubt that Arnold will be no sensational tomorrow. Packers, once the perennial leader of the pro league, haven't been doing so well this year. But it hasn't been Herber's fault.

WHAT I CAN'T UNDERSTAND IS WHY YER UNCLE ONLY GOT HEADS ALL THE TIME

By JACK CONWAY

RIP VALENTI, who has Dick Madden of Roxbury battling Unknown Winston of Hartford in a 12-round bout for the New England heavyweight championship at Mechanics Building on next Monday night, did some mental research work and then wrote down a partial list of the famous boxers who have come from Boston.

The array of ring stars is headed by the name of one of the best known of them all, Jack Dempsey. I was advised, "That's the toughest section in the district."

"We'll have the rally just the name," I insisted. "I lived in Roxbury. I was born and raised there."

"I've never to open the rally, I looked down at a sea of faces, and then started to talk."

"It's great to be taking a rally across the street from where I played ball as a boy," I said. "I was told that I would not be popular if I spoke here, but I told those persons."

"I never let anybody tell me that the people from Roxbury are not strong for the city of Boston. As it is also true in Charlestown, South Boston, East Boston, Brighton and Dorchester."

New Boxer Get Chance

THE BOSTON GARDEN will introduce some new faces to Boston boxing next night. In the main event, a semi-final, Jack Kamanski, a former champion, will battle a new contender, Mike McCarty.

McCarty has shown here before. He recently defeated Vincent Piro in a round of 10. Piro was a former champion, and McCarty has beaten Mickey Bishop, Leo Lachar and Mike Nivola.

GRAND MOMENTS IN HISTORY—TABLEAU NO. ONE
 Congressman Horace Walpole Herford Frisby has volunteered to post for a series of one-man tableaux depicting "Great Moments in History." These plays will be available in magic lantern slides for Chas. Truquet, 1000 Avenue of the Americas, New York City, and also at the Frisby and Frisby parties. Some address "Frisby Extension, Counties, Inc., Washington Monument D. C." First of the series, however, shows Mr. Frisby as "Thapsellus Writing a Letter to Josephine." Mr. Frisby says he not only resembles the Little Giant of Waterloo, but has several lady acquaintances who, strangely enough, are known to him only as "Josephine." "Perhaps," says Frisby, "you can arrange copies. For all I know I may be the man of destiny, and some little lady named Josephine and I will have some good times together. If I may be permitted to judge the future by the past."

"As a matter of fact," says Mr. Frisby, "I think the readers of both business and leisure are getting closer together than they have ever been before."

Which is all very fine, but the trouble is they hit on these clichés.

THESE MODERNS.
 (Says here)
 "Did you not think him to break down his fidelity to his wife while the picture was being taken?" the attorney asked her. The question was repeated in another form, but the actress said she did not understand what was meant. Finally she dropped it altogether by exclaiming:
 "I'm sorry, but I don't understand it at all."

Says Grace.
 (The kitchen engine)
 "What seems to worry most of our organized groups when they think about recovery is the chance that somebody else may recover first."

And clipping from the rear with an empty flask.

Q. AND A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Thoughtful Aunt Bella:
 I see by the papers where you couples were questioned by a Philadelphia minister, and a society of their unconverted wives. In the question: "Can a man or woman come back after a transgression?" What do you think, dear sympathetic Aunt Bella?
 Worried.

Ans.—What I say, kiddo, is why not? That is, if they don't like it where they're at.
 A. ("Philosophical") Bella.

THIMBLE THEATRE, starring POPEYE

Now Showing—"Strictly Vegetarian"

WHO IS HE, MRS. JONES? I INVENTED THE SLIGHTEST IDEA. HE CAME INTO THE THEATRE AND BEGAN CALLING ME MOTHER. I THINK HE REALLY BELIEVES I AM HIS MOTHER.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO HAVE SOME FOOD? I'LL GLADLY GO SOMEWHERE FOR YOU.

NO, THANK YOU, NO. I AM NOT HUNGRY.

DON'T BOTHER ABOUT ME, BUT IT'S SURELY OF 7A TO FEED ME MOTHER. I SEE THIS.

I'VE HAD A BIG MEAL BEFORE DROPPED ANCHOR HERE.

I WILL NEVER GO TO HEAVEN ON ACCOUNT OF 1 YAMMA BLASTED LIAR.

OH, NO, HE ISN'T HUNGRY. HE'S OUT THERE EATING CACTUS.

BRINGING UP FATHER (FOLLOW JIGGS AND MAGGIE IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

WELL, I'LL LISTEN TO THE RADIO AND TRY TO LEARN THE GAME. EVERYBODY SEEMS TO BE SAFE ABOUT THE GAME.

THE BALL'S ON THE TEN YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. THE NINE YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. THE EIGHT YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. THE SEVEN YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. THE SIX YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. THE FIVE YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. THE FOUR YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. THE THREE YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. THE TWO YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. THE ONE YARD LINE. I'VE LOST IT. SOMEbody ELSE.

WELL, IT'S THE FIRST DOWN. NO! THE SECOND DOWN. NO! THE THIRD DOWN. NO! THE FOURTH DOWN. NO! THE FIFTH DOWN. NO! THE SIXTH DOWN. NO! THE SEVENTH DOWN. NO! THE EIGHTH DOWN. NO! THE NINTH DOWN. NO! THE TENTH DOWN. NO! THE REFeree IS ON THE FIELD. IT'S THE ARMY RULE.

THAT GUY DON'T KNOW ANY MORE FOOT BALL THAN I DO.

POLLY AND HER PALS (FOLLOW POLLY AND HER PALS IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

SEEN? YOU DIDN'T SHOOT ANY WILD TURKES. ASHLEY HADTA RETURN THE MONEY TO ALL THE FOLKS HE SOLD 'EM TO!

HOW KIN HE RETURN IT WHEN HES FORGOTTEN WHERE HE BURIED IT?

LET'S PUT ON OUR THINKIN' CAPS AN' CONCENTRATE!

NOT ME, MA'AM. I'M GONNA ACT!!

ACT?? ACT HOW?

I'M A LITTLE UNDECIDED, SUSIE.

I DON'T KNOW WHETHER TO SHOVEL OR SHOOT?

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY (FOLLOW LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

WELL, I GOT YOUR WIRE—AND HERE'S A LETTER FROM THE GOOD NEWS—HAVE YOU LOCATED THAT LITTLE IMP, ANNIE ROONEY??

THERE'S THE ENVELOPE FROM A LETTER THE KID WROTE TO ASK REEAL—IT WAS MAILED LAST MONDAY FROM NORTH PORT—AND NOTICE THAT ENVELOPE—VERY EXPENSIVE PAPER—THE KIND RICH FOLKS USE.

WELL, THE LITTLE BOY VERY LIKELY STOLE SOME WRITING PAPER—SHE ISN'T THE TYPE RICH PEOPLE WANT AROUND—MORE LIKELY WELL FIND HER DISHWASHER IN SOME CHEAP RESTAURANT—FIND OUT WHEN THE NEXT TRAIN LEAVES FOR NORTH PORT?

IT'S A SECRET, ZERO—AN I WOULDN'T TELL NOBODY BUT YOU—I DON'T THINK MRS. ROBBINS LIKES ME VERY MUCH—SHE TREATS ME CRABBY—BUT SHE'S A NICE POLITE AND NICE AN' FRIENDLY LIKE MRS. REEAL ALWAYS WAS—NOW, I'M GONNA BE AS NICE AS I CAN BE—AN' AFTER A WHILE SHE'LL LIKE ME A LITTLE BIT!

BARNEY GOOGLE (FOLLOW BARNEY GOOGLE'S ADVENTURES IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

ALL RIGHT—ALL RIGHT—YOU'VE ADMITTED IT'S A WOMAN—!!

NO! WHO IS SHE?

I WON'T TALK!

WELL—YOU MUST KNOW HER PRETTY WELL.

I'LL SAY I DO—BOY, OH, BOY!

LOOKIT MY SCAR ON MY DASHBOARD—!

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK (FOLLOW TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

I'VE BEEN THINKING ABOUT IT ALL NIGHT, LANCE HALFOORD—WE SHOULDN'T HAVE TAKEN THEM TO THE SAVAGES—

THIS IS FAR SWIFTER AND SAFER THAN TRAVELLING THROUGH THE JUNGLE.

BUT WHAT IF WE SPILL OURSelves AND THE CROCODILES ATTACK US?

I HAVE MY DOUBTS, SAID ABOUT THIS QUEEN OFA AND THE PILLAR OF ROLLING FLAME THAT WAS GIVEN HER EVER-LASTING LIFE—IF THERE REALLY IS SUCH A PERSON I WONDER IF SHE IS BEAUTIFUL?

IF SHE IS, REK, I'LL BET YOU'LL FALL IN LOVE WITH HER! BUT IMAGINE MARRYING A GAL 2000 YEARS OLD.

YOU WERE RIGHT, HALFOORD! WE'D GET TO THE OCEAN WITHIN A WEEK AND THERE IT IS!

WE'LL FOLLOW THE COAST-LINE TO THE NORTH UNTIL WE REACH THE BIG APE-ROCK.

KRAZY KAT

YOU HAVE THE CUTEST FINGER NAILS, SIR—

EH-HEH-H.

AND SUCH A ARTISTIC HAND!

SO LITTLE "HAR" REVEALED
